Huntley Meadows Presents Winter Birds and Bagels

Huntley Meadows, lying in a flat, low plain carved by an ancient meander of the Potomac River, offers some of the best wildlife watching in the Washington metropolitan area. With its 1,425 acres of forest and vast wetlands, Huntley Meadows provides the perfect habitat for more than 200 species of birds. On Saturday, February 23, 2008 from 8 to 10:30 a.m., the Fairfax County Park Authority invites bird-loving adults to take a relaxing stroll through the park and experience Huntley's unique freshwater marsh.

Following the walk, warm up with hot beverages and enjoy fresh bagels in the visitor center. Wear comfortable shoes, dress for the weather and bring your binoculars. This program costs $6 per person and reservations are required. Program space is limited.

For more information or to reserve a space, call 703-768-2525.

Huntley Meadows Park is located at 3701 Lockheed Blvd. in Alexandria.
